Organisation

- ✓ use a range of linking words effectively to show clearly the relationship between ideas
- ✓ paragraph appropriately

- ✓ reproduce conventional features of common types of text

Subject Method:

The course will be conducted through interactive learning, it will consist of class discussion, students presentation, quiz, case study analysis , paper, assignment and exams.

Subject Overview:

Session 1	:	Process that Info! Let's Describe
Session 2	:	Compare and Contrast What's the Process?
Session 3	:	Which Company? Report the Location
Session 4	:	Review Get that Letter Right
Session 5	:	Internal, Internal! Problems, Causes, Consequences
Session 6	:	Complaining and Apologising Review and Recommend
Session 7	:	Comparing Options and Recommending Time to Examine

Final – Examination

International English examination

Grading System:

Fewer errors are expected to be made by a student in EBC2 than in EBC1. Errors have a greater effect on the success of the message, e.g. a press release or mailshot with many errors in grammar, spelling & punctuation as well as incorrect tone and weak fluency, would give a poor impression of the company and thus not achieve its purpose.

Grading is based on a set of rubrics for all writing tasks. These are aligned with the CEF can do statements.

Students receive an abridged copy of the marking rubrics at the beginning of the course.

Marking Rubrics:

Listening and Reading

- ✓ Marks are awarded for Listening and Reading Sections.
- ✓ Listening and Reading questions are marked against paper-specific marking schemes.

Writing

- Marks are awarded for the closed writing tasks against paper-specific marking schemes.
- The free-writing sections are marked against criteria aligned to the descriptors of the CEFR. These criteria are Layout (if applicable), Content, Grammar, Spelling & Punctuation (includes range of vocabulary), Tone and Fluency

	Grammar	Spelling and punctuation
4	Broad range of Grammar used with clarity, assurance and precision. The signatory would be happy to send this communication without amendment.	Few if any errors – none of which are significant. The signatory would be happy to send this communication without amendment.
3	Grammar appropriate to level and mostly accurate, with no impeding errors. Few if any errors need to be corrected before this communication could be sent.	Accuracy is high. Few if any Spelling/Punctuation errors need to be corrected before the communication could be sent. Errors do not impede communication.
2	Adequate range of Grammar used with no impeding errors – could be sent out after amendments were made.	Quite a lot of Spelling&/Punctuation errors but they do not impede communication – could be sent out after amendments were made.
1	Relatively narrow range of Grammar used with some impeding errors. A re-write would be necessary before this could be sent.	Frequent errors make message difficult to follow. A re-write would be necessary before this could be sent.
0	Only a rudimentary range of Grammar used. Many errors, often difficult to follow. Could not be sent.	No work submitted or Spelling & Punctuation errors make the text almost impossible to follow.

Tone & Fluency

Message conveyed effectively and fluently with appropriate tone

4

	Fully and appropriately addresses all content points satisfying the demands of the task, with good expansion & support Excellent command of a broad repertoire of vocabulary on business topics. No serious errors. Cohesive & coherent text appropriately using a full range of linguistic devices.
3	Message conveyed effectively but tone/fluency slightly off-key Mainly satisfies the demands of the task, covering most content points fully and effectively Good range of vocabulary on business topics. Accuracy is high. Errors don't impede communication Cohesive & coherent text appropriately using a range of linguistic devices
2	Message barely conveyed and/or organization/tone/fluency weak Responds to some content points fully and effectively Generally good control of vocabulary on business topics Cohesive & coherent text adequately using a range of linguistic devices
1	Some information conveyed but little evidence of organization/tone/fluency Responds to some content points effectively, partially satisfying the demands of the task, with little expansion A limited range of intermediate business vocabulary, some errors when expressing unfamiliar or complex topics makes understanding difficult Attempts to use linguistic devices though not always consistently
0	Barely comprehensible/insufficient message conveyed/message obscured Does not satisfy the demands of the task, responding to only one or none of the content points appropriately OR off topic Only a rudimentary range of vocabulary used. many errors, often difficult to follow Lacks cohesion and/or uses linguistic devices inappropriately. Text almost impossible to follow

Layout & Content – see specific writing task marking scheme

Speaking

Fluency (and interaction)

This refers to the student's ability to speak comprehensibly at a reasonable speed, structure ideas in a coherent way and to keep the conversation going. A certain amount of hesitation is to be expected at lower levels, and responses to the questions will be shorter. At higher levels, it is expected that the student will produce longer, more natural sounding and more detailed responses, and that they will need less prompting from the interlocutor to keep talking.

Lexis (Vocabulary)

This refers to the range and accuracy of the student's vocabulary. At lower levels, the focus will be on the student's ability to use the vocabulary at his/her disposal to communicate the intended meaning. This may include effective use of paraphrasing and circumlocution. As the levels increase, the student's vocabulary should be increasingly precise and they should need to rely less on paraphrasing and circumlocution.

Grammar

This refers to the range and accuracy of grammatical structures (e.g. word order, tense, agreement, verb patterns). It is expected that students at higher levels should be able to use basic structures more accurately than those at lower levels. At higher levels, students should also be attempting to use more complex structures where it would be natural to use them.

Pronunciation

This refers to the student's production and use of individual sounds, word stress, sentence stress, rhythm and intonation. It is not necessary for students to sound like a native speaker. The main consideration is comprehensibility and how far the student's pronunciation problems interfere with communication or place strain upon the listener. This strain is expected to decrease as the levels increase.

Fluency

4	Can communicate spontaneously, showing remarkable fluency and ease of expression throughout.
3	Can communicate spontaneously, often showing remarkable fluency and ease of expression even in longer complex stretches of speech.
2	Can interact with a degree of fluency and spontaneity that enables regular interaction with native speakers without imposing strain on either party.
1	The student needs prompting, and there may be hesitations and false starts. He/she makes only brief statements, and is unable to speak at length about any topics. Some students may have a reasonable speed of delivery, but the listener has some difficulty in following the student's argument.

Lexis

4	Accuracy and range of vocabulary extremely high.
3	Very few lexical gaps or inaccuracies.
2	Has a good range of vocabulary though lexical gaps can still cause problems. Lexical accuracy is generally high though some confusion and incorrect word choice does occur without hindering communication.
1	There is regular misuse of words, and significant amounts of circumlocution to make up for a lack of precise vocabulary. This makes it difficult for the student to develop the topic to any depth.

Grammar

4	Excellent grammatical control and range.
3	Very good grammatical control. Errors almost non-existent.
2	Good grammatical control; occasional slips or non-systematic errors and minor flaws in sentence structure may still occur, but they are rare and can often be corrected in retrospect
1	Basic grammatical errors are frequent enough to cause irritation or strain in the listener, and may impede communication on occasion.

Pronunciation

4	Appropriate use of pronunciation, stress and intonation.
3	Only minor errors of pronunciation, stress and intonation.
2	Has acquired a clear, natural, pronunciation and intonation although some errors persist. Native language interference insufficient to cause strain.
1	Pronunciation errors will place strain on the listener. This may on occasion result in misunderstandings.

Subject Evaluation:

As a general rule, students are evaluated based on the following criteria:

Final Examinations	40%
Weekly Discussion	40%
Quiz	10%
Live Session Attendance	10%
TOTAL	100%

Evaluation elements are stated in quantitative forms, ranging from 0 to 100. Course grades on the student's result card (KHS) are stated as alphabetical symbol with the following qualification:

GRADE:

90-100	A	4.00
95-89.99	A-	3.70
80-84.99	B+	3.30
78-79.99	B	3.00
70-74.99	B-	2.70
70-74.99	C+	2.30
65-69.99	C	2.00
50-59.99	C-	1.70
40-49.99	D	1.00

Scheme of Work:

Final Test

Final Paper Guidelines:

All material covered in both guided sessions and online supplementary self- study material.

Reading, grammar and writing will have a minimum of 6 types.

The final test will consist of listening, reading, grammar and writing sections which will test students' language competency of week 1 – 14 materials.

A speaking section for the final test has been planned for 2020/2021 academic year and will depend on the capabilities of the new LMS system being introduced in September 2020.
